

Academic Calendar

The calendar below addresses online offerings that do not fall under a degree-specific calendar. This calendar also does not apply to full-term, synchronous, undergraduate, online Bible offerings, which follow the dates applicable to the accompanying on-ground sections. For information about calendars particular to specific academic program's online offerings, please contact the Registrar's Office or the relevant program director.

As detailed below, full-term courses generally follow the University's main academic calendar. Fall and spring courses offered in 8-week modular formats generally follow the University's adult program calendar.

As shown in the online class schedules, the section numbers associated with courses offered on the online calendar are used as follows:

- 50: Full-term offerings
- 51 (with 53, 55, 57, and 59 as needed): Module 1 offerings
- 52 (with 54, 56, and 58 as needed): Module 2 offerings

Synchronous Final Examinations

If an instructor wishes to hold a synchronous final examination period in an otherwise asynchronous class, that examination should be scheduled on the last Saturday of the term according to the schedule below, and the instructor should inform students about the examination at the beginning of the term. If a student has conflicting examinations, the student should contact the relevant instructors to arrange an alternative schedule. Make ups for other reasons may be scheduled at an instructor's discretion.
